Enemy Buster: Battle & Scoring Strategy

Saturday is Enemy Buster Day in Last Z: Survival Shooter, the final and most valuable scoring day of the weekly Alliance Duel!

Worth 4 victory points, Enemy Buster rewards strategic combat, defeating enemy troops, and coordinated alliance participation. However, winning isn't simply about attacking everything in sight.

This chapter explains how Enemy Buster scoring works, why targeting your matched Duel alliance earns additional points, and how players can contribute through orange Bounty Missions, Intercity Trade Trucks, and eligible speedups.

Learn how to prepare for battle, use cross-server teleports, protect your Headquarters with shields, manage wounded troops, and avoid costly mistakes.

Whether you're an experienced fighter or a non-combat player, you'll discover ways to support your alliance while following State 775's Saturday war regulations.

Prepare on Friday. Fight smart on Saturday. Protect State 775!

Last Z: Survival Shooter — Alliance Duel Daily Tips & Scoring Strategy

- Enemy Buster Scoring Explained
- Combat Strategy & Cross-Server Attacks
- Shields, Defense & Troop Recovery
- Saturday Preparation & Common Mistakes

Enemy Buster Scoring Explained

Day: Saturday — Enemy Buster
State: 775

Introduction

Saturday is Enemy Buster Day, the sixth and final scoring day of Alliance Duel in Last Z: Survival Shooter.

Unlike earlier days, which focus on upgrades and resource spending, Enemy Buster emphasizes combat, troop defeats, and alliance coordination.

Saturday is worth 4 weekly victory points, making it the most valuable individual day of the competition.

A strong Saturday performance can decide the entire weekly Alliance Duel!

How Enemy Buster Points Work

There are several ways to earn points, including combat and non-combat activities.

Combat Scoring

- Defeat enemy troops: Earn points for enemy units defeated in battle.
- Defeat Duel alliance troops: Earn additional points when defeating troops belonging to your matched Alliance Duel opponent.
- Troop losses: Your own troops killed in battle can also generate event points, although deliberately sacrificing troops is not an efficient strategy.

Higher-tier troops generally provide more points than lower-tier troops.

Important: Destroying or attacking an empty Headquarters does not automatically earn troop-defeat points. Combat scoring depends on the units involved.

Your Matched Duel Alliance Matters

Your alliance is matched against another alliance for the weekly competition.

During Enemy Buster, defeating troops belonging to that matched alliance provides a scoring advantage over defeating troops from unrelated alliances.

Some community scoring references report a 5× bonus for defeating matched Duel alliance troops, although published guides differ on the exact multiplier.

Always verify the current scoring values in your Alliance Duel event screen.

Strategy: Coordinate with alliance leadership and prioritize eligible Duel opponents when it is safe and permitted by state rules.

Earn Points Without Fighting

Not everyone has the troop strength or resources to participate in large battles.

Fortunately, Saturday offers additional scoring opportunities.

Orange Bounty Missions

Complete eligible orange-quality Bounty Missions to earn Alliance Duel points.

These missions also score on Tuesday, when they are generally worth more.

Orange Intercity Trade Trucks

Dispatch eligible orange Intercity Trade Trucks to earn additional Saturday points.

Wednesday is normally their highest-value Alliance Duel scoring day, so plan your refreshes carefully.

Speedups

Eligible speedups can also contribute to Saturday's score.

Healing speedups are particularly useful because they help restore troops after combat.

Other speedup categories may score, but specialized speedups are often better saved for their dedicated days.

Remember: Check the Saturday task list before spending valuable items.

Every Alliance Member Can Contribute

Active fighters: Earn points through coordinated combat and defeating enemy troops.

Support players: Complete orange missions, dispatch orange trucks, and use eligible speedups.

Non-combat players: Stay shielded when necessary and contribute through safer scoring activities.

A successful Enemy Buster day requires participation from the entire alliance, not just its strongest fighters.

Saturday's Scoring Checklist

- Check your Alliance Duel opponent and current scoring tasks.
- Review your available troop strength before entering combat.
- Coordinate attacks with alliance leadership.
- Complete eligible orange Bounty Missions.
- Dispatch eligible orange Intercity Trade Trucks.
- Use healing speedups when needed.
- Protect your Headquarters if you are not fighting.
- Follow State 775's Saturday combat regulations.

Final Lesson

Enemy Buster is about earning points intelligently, not simply attacking everything you see.

Fight strategically, protect your troops, and use the scoring opportunities available to you.

Fight smart. Score together. Win as an alliance!

Last Z: Survival Shooter — State 775 Alliance Duel Guide

Combat Strategy & Cross-Server Attacks

Alliance Duel — Daily Tips & Scoring Strategy | Chapter 6 — Page 2

Day: Saturday — Enemy Buster
State: 775

Introduction

Enemy Buster is not about attacking every Headquarters you see. Successful players choose their battles, coordinate with allies, and know when to retreat.

Saturday's goal is to earn valuable combat points without unnecessarily destroying your army.

A well-planned attack can be worth more than several reckless battles.

1. Scout Before You Attack

Before launching an attack, gather information about your target.

Check for:

- Headquarters level: Is the enemy significantly stronger than you?
- Troop strength: Does the target have enough defending troops to make the attack worthwhile?
- Reinforcements: Could stronger alliance members be defending the target?
- Alliance affiliation: Is the target part of your matched Duel alliance?
- Location: Are other enemy players nearby who could counterattack?

Scouting helps you avoid costly surprises.

Important: An empty Headquarters may provide little or no troop-defeat score.

2. Choose Your Battles Wisely

Not every available enemy is a good target.

Prioritize opponents you can realistically defeat while minimizing your own losses.

Recommended Strategy

1. Look for eligible enemies with manageable defenses.
2. Check whether the target belongs to your matched Duel alliance.
3. Coordinate with nearby alliance members.
4. Use your strongest appropriate combat formation.
5. Review the battle report before attacking again.

If your troops are suffering heavy losses, reconsider the target instead of repeatedly attacking.

Remember: A smart retreat is better than losing your entire army.

---

3. Coordinate Alliance Attacks

Enemy Buster is a team event.

Working with alliance members can help you challenge stronger opponents and avoid unnecessary losses.

Alliance Coordination

- Share target information in alliance chat.
- Follow leadership's attack instructions.
- Coordinate rallies when appropriate.
- Avoid attacking targets already assigned to another group.
- Reinforce allies when requested and when safe.
- Warn teammates about dangerous enemy concentrations.

Stronger players can lead major attacks while smaller players contribute through suitable targets and support.

An organized alliance is more effective than a group of players fighting independently.

4. Cross-Server Combat

During eligible Enemy Buster cross-server events, players may be able to travel between their home state and the opposing state.

This allows alliances to take the battle directly to their opponents.

Before Teleporting

1. Confirm that cross-server travel is available in the active event.
2. Check your alliance's designated attack location.
3. Review your troop strength and hospital capacity.
4. Keep a return or emergency teleport option available.
5. Coordinate your arrival with alliance leadership.

Some event travel options may be free, but availability and restrictions should always be checked in-game.

While in Enemy Territory

- Avoid teleporting into large enemy groups alone.
- Stay near allied fighters when possible.
- Watch for incoming attacks.
- Keep track of your wounded troops.
- Be ready to retreat if the situation becomes unfavorable.

Never assume an enemy state is safe simply because no attacks are currently visible.

---

5. Returning Home Safely

Once you finish fighting, don't remain exposed unnecessarily.

Before leaving:

- Recall your available marches.
- Review wounded troops and hospital capacity.
- Confirm your return teleport is available.
- Return to State 775 when appropriate.
- Activate protection when eligible if you are finished fighting.

War Frenzy Warning: Attacking another player can activate a temporary War Frenzy status that prevents shielding until it expires.

Check your current status before relying on a shield for protection.

State 775 Combat Reminder

Follow the official State 775 Saturday war regulations and alliance leadership instructions.

Respect designated combat areas, protect non-combat players, and coordinate attacks rather than creating unnecessary conflicts.

Enemy Buster should strengthen your alliance's position, not create avoidable losses or disputes.

Saturday Combat Checklist

- Scout potential targets before attacking.
- Prioritize worthwhile and permitted battles.
- Coordinate with alliance leadership.
- Confirm cross-server travel rules.
- Keep an emergency return option available.
- Monitor wounded troops and hospital capacity.
- Retreat when the risks outweigh the rewards.
- Return home and shield when eligible.

Final Lesson

Enemy Buster rewards preparation, teamwork, and smart decisions.

The strongest fighter is not always the one who attacks the most. Sometimes, it's the player who knows exactly when to fight and when to leave.

Scout first. Strike together. Return safely.

Last Z: Survival Shooter — State 775 Alliance Duel Guide

1 SCOUT BEFORE YOU ATTACK

HQ Lv. 30
Power: 24BM
Troops: 1.2M
Alliance: [ENEMY]

- Check HQ level
- View troop strength
- Look for reinforcements
- Is it the Duel alliance?
- Avoid empty or fake targets

2 CHOOSE YOUR BATTLES WISELY

- Pick targets you can beat
- Higher tier troops = more points
- Avoid unnecessary losses
- Don't attack empty HQs
- Review battle reports
- A smart retreat is better than losing your army

3 COORDINATE ALLIANCE ATTACKS

- Share target information
- Follow leadership instructions
- Use rallies when needed
- Avoid duplicate targets
- Reinforce allies
- Work as a team for bigger wins

4 CROSS-SERVER COMBAT

STATE 775 → ENEMY STATE

- Use event teleport options
- Confirm travel is available
- Join your alliance at the target
- Stay near allied fighters
- Keep a return teleport ready
- Avoid teleporting into large enemy groups alone

5 RETURN HOME SAFELY

- Recall your marches
- Check wounded troops
- Return to State 775 when done
- Activate a shield when eligible
- War Frenzy prevents shielding
- Keep an emergency teleport

PREPARE — Scout, plan and coordinate with your alliance.

STRIKE TOGETHER — Attack strategically and earn maximum points.

USE TELEPORTS — Take the fight to the enemy during eligible events.

PROTECT YOURSELF — Return and shield when eligible.

FIGHT SMART — Earn points, minimize losses and help your alliance win!

Shields, Defense & Troop Recovery

Day: Saturday — Enemy Buster
State: 775

Introduction

Saturday's Enemy Buster is not just about attacking. Protecting your Headquarters, preserving troops, and helping alliance members survive are equally important.

A strong defense can prevent unnecessary losses and keep your alliance competitive throughout the event.

Remember: Surviving Saturday is just as important as scoring on Saturday!

1. Shields — Your First Line of Defense

Peace Shields protect your Headquarters from eligible enemy attacks while active.

If you do not intend to participate in combat, shielding is one of the safest ways to protect your troops and resources.

Shielding Tips

- Activate your shield before the fighting begins.
- Choose a shield duration that covers your expected absence.
- Check its expiration time carefully.
- Keep a replacement shield available if necessary.

- Never assume your shield will automatically renew.

Important: Always check the in-game shield description and restrictions before relying on it.

2. Understanding War Frenzy

Attacking another player can activate War Frenzy, a temporary combat status that prevents you from activating a Peace Shield.

This creates a dangerous situation if you finish attacking but remain exposed to retaliation.

Before Attacking

1. Check whether your action will trigger War Frenzy.
2. Make sure your troops are prepared.
3. Keep an emergency teleport option available.
4. Plan how you will retreat if attacked.
5. Allow War Frenzy to expire before attempting to shield.

Critical Rule: Do not begin attacking if you expect to shield immediately afterward.

---

3. Defending Your Headquarters

A Headquarters with a large number of troops can become an attractive target during Enemy Buster.

Before combat begins, review your defenses.

Defensive Preparation

- Check which formations are assigned to defend.
- Review available troop strength.
- Monitor nearby enemy Headquarters.
- Keep track of incoming attacks.
- Coordinate reinforcements with trusted alliance members.
- Avoid leaving valuable troops exposed unnecessarily.

If a significantly stronger enemy approaches, withdrawing or teleporting may be safer than defending an unwinnable battle.

4. Reinforcing Alliance Members

Reinforcements allow alliance members to help defend one another.

However, reinforcing a Headquarters that is about to be overwhelmed can place additional troops at risk.

Smart Reinforcement Strategy

1. Confirm that the player needs assistance.
2. Check the attacking enemy's strength.
3. Coordinate with alliance leadership.
4. Send suitable troops if the defense is realistic.
5. Recall reinforcements if leadership orders a retreat.

Never reinforce blindly. A poorly planned defense can cost several alliance members their armies.

---

5. Hospitals & Wounded Troops

Combat can produce large numbers of wounded troops.

Your hospital capacity is important because wounded troops exceeding available capacity may be lost permanently, depending on the battle mechanics.

Hospital Management

- Check available hospital capacity before fighting.
- Monitor wounded troop counts after battles.
- Start healing when necessary.
- Avoid allowing wounded troops to accumulate beyond capacity.
- Review battle reports to understand your losses.

Keeping your hospital under control allows you to remain effective longer.

6. Healing Speedups

Healing speedups help restore wounded troops more quickly.

During Enemy Buster, eligible speedup usage can also contribute to Alliance Duel scoring.

This makes healing particularly valuable when you need troops returned to combat.

Efficient Healing

- Heal troops in manageable batches.
- Use healing speedups when necessary.
- Coordinate alliance assistance where available.
- Avoid wasting speedups when normal healing time is sufficient.
- Confirm which speedups count toward the current event.

The goal is to recover troops efficiently, not spend resources simply because they are available.

State 775 — Saturday Safety Rules

Follow State 775's official Saturday war regulations and any current instructions from alliance leadership.

Combat Players

Use designated combat areas, including the MUD zone where required by State 775 rules.

Coordinate your movements and avoid exposing alliance members to unnecessary danger.

Non-Combat Players

Players who are not participating in combat should follow the state's GRASS zone and shielding requirements.

Staying protected helps prevent unnecessary losses and reduces opportunities for enemy alliances to earn points.

A shielded player can still support the alliance through eligible non-combat scoring activities.

Saturday Defense Checklist

- Activate a shield if you are not fighting.
- Check shield expiration and War Frenzy status.
- Review Headquarters defensive formations.
- Monitor hospital capacity.
- Heal wounded troops efficiently.
- Reinforce allies only when appropriate.
- Keep emergency teleport options available.
- Follow State 775's Saturday combat regulations.

Final Lesson

Winning Enemy Buster requires more than aggressive attacks.

Protecting your troops, managing wounded units, and helping alliance members survive can make the difference between a successful battle and a costly defeat.

Protect your HQ. Preserve your army. Fight another battle!

Last Z: Survival Shooter — State 775 Alliance Duel Guide

LASTZ
SURVIVAL SHOOTER
ALLIANCE DUEL
DAILY TIPS & SCORING STRATEGY
CHAPTER 6 - PAGE 3
SHIELDS, DEFENSE & TROOP RECOVERY
STATE 775
PROTECT
SUPPORT
SURVIVE
STRONGER
TOGETHER
SATURDAY
ENEMY BUSTER
SHIELDS • DEFENSE • TROOP RECOVERY
WAR FRENZY
Attacking players can trigger War Frenzy!
You cannot activate a shield while War Frenzy is active.
Let War Frenzy expire before shielding.
SHIELDS
Protects your HQ from attacks
Activate before the fighting begins
Check expiration time
Keep extra shields available
Perfect for non-combat players
DEFENSE & REINFORCEMENTS
Set strong defensive formations
Reinforce alliance members
Coordinate with leadership
Watch for incoming attacks
Recall reinforcements if needed
HOSPITAL & WOUNDED TROOPS
Check hospital capacity
Monitor wounded troops
Heal before reaching capacity
Use healing speedups when needed
Keep your army ready for more battles
HEALING SPEEDUPS
Restore wounded troops quickly
Can earn Alliance Duel points
Use efficiently
Pair with alliance assistance
Check which speedups are eligible
NON-COMBAT PLAYERS
Stay shielded in the GRASS zone
Follow State 775 rules
Support through missions & trucks
Still earn Alliance Duel points
Help keep the alliance strong
STATE 775 REMINDER
MUD ZONE
COMBAT PLAYERS
GRASS ZONE
NON-COMBAT PLAYERS
Follow State 775 war regulations
Use designated combat areas
Protect non-combat players
Coordinate with alliance leadership
Survive today to fight tomorrow

Saturday Preparation & Common Mistakes

Day: Saturday — Enemy Buster
State: 775

Introduction

Saturday is the final and most valuable scoring day of Alliance Duel. The difference between victory and defeat often comes down to preparation, teamwork, and avoiding unnecessary losses.

Whether you're leading attacks or protecting your Headquarters, every player has a role.

Prepare on Friday. Fight smart on Saturday. Finish strong!

1. Friday Night — Prepare for War

Before Enemy Buster begins, make sure your Headquarters and troops are ready.

Combat Preparation

- Finish training and promoting troops during Friday's Holistic Growth event.
- Heal wounded troops and check hospital capacity.
- Review your strongest formations and heroes.
- Check available stamina, speedups, and teleport items.
- Confirm the Enemy Buster start time in your Event Calendar.
- Read alliance announcements and battle instructions.

Protection Preparation

If you do not intend to fight:

- Obtain an appropriate Peace Shield.
- Move to the designated safe area when required.
- Check that your shield will cover your absence.
- Avoid leaving valuable troops exposed.

A few minutes of preparation can prevent hours of recovery.

---

2. Saturday — Follow the Battle Plan

Enemy Buster is a team event, not a competition to see who can attack the most Headquarters.

For Active Fighters

1. Check the current Alliance Duel scoring tasks.
2. Identify eligible targets and matched Duel opponents.
3. Coordinate attacks with alliance leadership.
4. Scout before committing troops.
5. Monitor your hospital and battle reports.
6. Retreat or regroup when necessary.

For Support Players

- Complete eligible orange Bounty Missions.
- Dispatch eligible orange Intercity Trade Trucks.
- Use qualifying speedups when beneficial.
- Help allies with available alliance assistance.
- Follow state protection requirements.

Every contribution matters, even if you never launch an attack.

3. Enemy Buster & Capital Clash

Saturday may also include Capital Clash or other major state battles.

These events can compete for the same troops, healing resources, and player attention.

Before committing your army:

- Check the Event Calendar for both event schedules.
- Follow leadership's priorities.
- Preserve enough troops for important objectives.
- Avoid exhausting your army on low-value attacks.
- Coordinate healing and recovery between battles.

Winning a small fight is not worth missing a major alliance objective.

---

4. The Six Common Saturday Mistakes

Mistake 1 — Forgetting to Shield

Leaving your Headquarters unprotected while offline can expose your troops and resources.

Better Strategy: Activate protection before the event if you are not participating.

Mistake 2 — Attacking Without Scouting

An apparently weak Headquarters may contain powerful troops or reinforcements.

Better Strategy: Scout first and review the risks.

Mistake 3 — Fighting Above Your Strength

Repeatedly attacking stronger opponents can overwhelm your hospital and drain resources.

Better Strategy: Choose manageable targets and coordinate larger attacks.

Mistake 4 — Ignoring War Frenzy

Attacking another player and immediately trying to shield may leave you exposed.

Better Strategy: Know when War Frenzy expires and plan your retreat.

Mistake 5 — Ignoring Hospital Capacity

Too many wounded troops can lead to avoidable losses and reduced fighting strength.

Better Strategy: Monitor capacity and heal when necessary.

Mistake 6 — Fighting Without Alliance Coordination

Independent attacks can interfere with rallies, weaken defenses, and waste troops.

Better Strategy: Follow leadership instructions and work toward shared objectives.

---

5. State 775 — Fight Responsibly

State 775 has established Saturday combat regulations to help protect players while allowing competitive warfare.

Remember:

- Active fighters should follow designated MUD zone combat requirements.
- Non-combat players should follow GRASS zone and shielding requirements.
- Follow current alliance and state leadership instructions.
- Coordinate reinforcements and attacks.
- Respect the state's official rules throughout the event.

Strong alliances protect their members as carefully as they attack their enemies.

Final Saturday Checklist

Before Enemy Buster

- Check the event start time.

- Train and heal troops.
- Prepare formations and resources.
- Obtain shields and teleports.
- Review alliance instructions.

During Enemy Buster

- Scout and choose targets carefully.
- Coordinate with allies.
- Monitor hospital capacity.
- Complete eligible non-combat scoring tasks.
- Follow State 775 regulations.

After Fighting

- Recall available marches.
- Review battle reports and troop losses.
- Heal wounded troops.
- Return to a safe location when appropriate.
- Activate a shield when eligible.
- Prepare for Sunday's recovery and peace period.

Chapter 6 — Final Lesson

Enemy Buster is not won by reckless attacks. It is won through preparation, coordination, efficient scoring, and knowing when to fight or defend.

Every player has a role in protecting the alliance and contributing to victory.

Prepare together. Fight together. Protect State 775!

Last Z: Survival Shooter — Alliance Duel Daily Tips & Scoring Strategy

Strategy compiled for State 775, with original daily guide contributions credited to Baba Yaga of State 775.

LAST Z
SURVIVAL SHOOTER

ALLIANCE DUEL
DAILY TIPS & SCORING STRATEGY

CHAPTER 6 - PAGE 4
SATURDAY PREPARATION & COMMON MISTAKES

SATURDAY ENEMY BUSTER
PREPARATION • STRATEGY • NO MISTAKES

STATE 775
PREPARE
FIGHT
PROTECT
WIN
TOGETHER

PREPARE TONIGHT
FIGHT TOMORROW
FINISH STRONG!

1 FRIDAY NIGHT PREPARATION

- Finish training & promotions
- Heal wounded troops
- Check hospital capacity
- Prepare formations & heroes
- Stock up on speedups & teleports
- Get your shield if not fighting
- Read alliance instructions

2 SATURDAY BATTLE PLAN

- Scout before you attack
- Choose the right targets
- Coordinate with your alliance
- Monitor hospital & losses
- Know when to retreat
- Support with missions & trucks
- Every member can contribute

3 CAPITAL CLASH & RESOURCE MANAGEMENT

- Check event times on calendar
- Save enough troops for both events
- Follow leadership priorities
- Coordinate healing & resources
- Don't waste your army on low-value targets
- Work together for the bigger win

4 THE 6 COMMON SATURDAY MISTAKES
1. Forgetting to Shield
   Leaves your HQ exposed.
2. Attacking Without Scouting
   Hidden troops or reinforcements.
3. Fighting Above Your Strength
   Huge losses and drained resources.
4. Ignoring War Frenzy
   You can't shield while it's active.
5. Ignoring Hospital Capacity
   Too many wounded troops.
6. Fighting Without Coordination
   Wastes troops and weakens the alliance.

5 FINAL CHECKLIST
BEFORE ENEMY BUSTER
- Check event start time
- Train & heal troops
- Prepare resources & teleports
- Get shields if not fighting
- Review alliance instructions

DURING ENEMY BUSTER
- Scout & choose targets carefully
- Coordinate with allies
- Monitor hospital capacity
- Complete non-combat tasks
- Follow State 775 regulations

AFTER FIGHTING
- Recall marches
- Heal wounded troops
- Return to safe location
- Shield when eligible
- Prepare for Sunday

STRONG ALLIANCES PREPARE TOGETHER
Plan, communicate and support every member.

FIGHT SMART NOT JUST HARD
Score points, minimize losses and help your alliance win.

PROTECT YOUR PEOPLE
Shield non-combat players and follow State 775 rules.

STATE 775 FINISH STRONG!
Preparation today leads to victory tomorrow!